COMPETING FOUR SCORE YEARS

George L. Yeomans Reaches His Eightieth Birthday—Native of Norwich Where He Has Lived For All But Nine Years of His Life—For Thirty Years a Tin Peddler.

Today marks the culmination of 80 years of life for George L. Yeomans, of No. 21 Lafayette street. There is to be no formal celebration of the day, but many neighbors and friends will probably take the occasion to pay Mr. Yeomans a visit.

Mr. Yeomans enjoys excellent health for one of his advanced years, retaining all his faculties with the exception of a slight deafness. He frequently walks from his home to the business center of the city.

He was born in Norwich, April 29, 1833, the son of George and Ruth Yeomans. His birthplace was opposite what is now Bliss place. With the exception of nine years passed on a farm in Franklin, Mr. Yeomans has resided almost his entire life in Norwich. He was a tin peddler for thirty years and was employed for a short time in the woolen mill at Taftville. For eight years he worked at gardening and afterwards, from 1889, for thirty years was a tin peddler. The tin peddler was an old Yankee institution which has passed out of existence at this time.

DR. LEONARD N. CASE WINS DISTINCTION IN HAWAII.
Establishes Value of Intradermal Test for Glanders.

The report of the board of commissioners of agriculture and forestry of the territory of Hawaii for 1912 has just been issued.

In submitting the report of the division of animal industry, Territorial Veterinarian Norgaard makes the following statement: "Contrary to previous usage, I take the liberty to submit this report over the name of my assistant, Dr. Leonard N. Case, in recognition of his faithful work and results attained."

The work above referred to relates to original experiments in the application of the intradermal test for glanders. These experiments of Dr. Case extended over a period of two years, resulting in establishing the superiority of this test over the old subcutaneous test.

The report, after citing specific instances of the application of the intradermal test, says: "This test must be considered a triumph, and I have no doubt will be adopted the world over as soon as it becomes known. This method was first suggested by Dr. Case as a direct result of our work with the intradermal method of tuberculin testing."

Dr. Leonard N. Case is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy, '01, and of Cornell university, '08. For the past five years Dr. Case has creditably filled the position of assistant veterinarian of Hawaii.

WILL REPLACE TELEGRAPHERS IN SMALL TOWNS.

Railroad Towers Along Shore Line to Be Worked Automatically.

The new wage scale was handed in to the railroad officials Saturday afternoon by the members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. Men 1—the first and second class towers, like Saybrook, Guilford, New London and New Haven, in this district, will receive from two to three dollars a week increase, as will also the agents and operators at the stations. The smaller towers, like Waterford, East Lyme, South Lyme, Lyme, Westbrook, Clinton, Madison, Lee's Island and Branford received a little advance on the grounds that the company was informed that these towers were to be abolished in the near future; that Saybrook, Guilford and probably East Lyme or Waterford might remain, but the others would be worked automatically and the plans were being informed in the hands of the engineers. This would mean a loss on the division from New London to New Haven of about 25 operators and several signal men, and would add about ten mechanics to look out for the automatic signals and switches to keep them in repair.

NORWICH TOWN

Rev. Frank Rose Writes of Work in the Philippines—Quick Trip by Motorcycle—Favorite Pony Sold.

In a recent letter from Rev. Francis Rose of Norwich town, now located in the Philippines, some things noted are: Among designs drawn by him for buildings there is a Philippine plan for the home of the principal of the Jaro industrial school which was accepted and of which he writes: "I thought it might interest you to see where those drawing lessons and work at the Norwich Art school are at last coming into play—teaching drawing and painting as the Philippines take to art and music—his work with the schoolboys on landscape gardening, in concrete, sun dial and gates; laying out driveways, setting out shade trees and palms, work in all branches of manual training. 'The chair of agriculture and manual training,' he writes, 'is not all occupied sitting down. The last week to occupy it I had to stand in water and river-mud, knee deep, every afternoon.'"

In an article contributed to The Pearl of the Orient, Mr. Rose writes: The Philippines, contrary to the representations of some critics of the country who call them "children who have to be led all they ever know or think or do," are original and at least as students are able to think for themselves. The boys are, for the most part, hard, steady workers, willing to earn their education, and as for the products of the manual training department, their work is next to perfect.

It is also very gratifying to find the type of men we do already on the field. There is a strength of personality about them that makes us very glad to be numbered with the missionaries. It is inspiring to line up with them in the battle that confronts us on every side in the Philippines. It is in schools like this at Jaro that the educated, thoughtful, industrious Christian future of the country is being assured.
